

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The creation of the University of Puerto Rico Business Law Journal would not have been possible without the support and counsel of Dean Roberto P. Aponte Toro, Professor Antonio Escudero Viera, Dean Emeritus Antonio García Padilla and the Faculty of the University of Puerto Rico School of Law. They have shepherded this academic endeavor, providing an agora for a thoughtful and responsible conversation of the legal, business, and economic issues that hamper our society, as well as created a cradle for solutions to the economic challenges facing Puerto Rico. The incisive critique and guidance of Professor Hiram Meléndez Juarbe is also appreciated.

We have striven to make the Journal and this first Volume meet their expectations. Hopefully, this Journal will foster a discussion that will help create not only a more vigorous economy, but also one that is more just.

With the utmost gratitude,
